President's Page

As CAHSLA's President this year, it has been my honor to serve such a vibrant organization... This year has been truly excellent thanks to the hard work and dedication of CAHSLA officers Emily Keen, Treasurer, Jennifer Pettigrew, Secretary, and Lisa McCormick and Barbare Hill, Chronicle Editors.

We started off the year's programming with a tour of the Archdiocese of Cincinnati's Archives on September 19, 2017, led by Sarah Patterson, M.A. S. Archivist-in-Chief... We bid farewell to our colleague, Jennifer Heffron (Tri Health Good Samaritan) who was moving to Walla Walla, WA.

On October 16, we took a tour of the Cincinnati Observatory, which included our business meeting and a meal. Attendees viewed the flyover of the International Space Station before heading inside for more astronomical discovery through the vintage telescopes of the Observatory.

We held our annual holiday party on December 13 at the Lloyd Library & Museum. CAHSLA provided several excellent main courses, while attendees brought and shared other dishes for dinner and dessert.

On February 6, we held the 2018 CAHSLA Tech Convo at The Christ Hospital's Christus Academic Center... On March 27, we held the Munch and Learn Live Demo 'Stacks - An alternative to LibGuides??' at The Christ Hospital's Joint & Spine Center.

This year the annual summer picnic will be on June 7 in Devou Park in Covington, KY. CAHSLA will provide the entrée while members bring and share side items and desserts. We will include a brief business meeting and time for networking and socializing at the picnic.

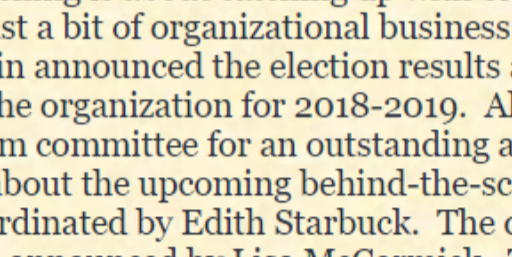

Finally, on June 20th, please mark your calendars for a tour of the renovated Pratt Library in Overland Park. This will also include a joint CAHSLA and SLA meeting, and will be a great opportunity to bring both library professional groups together.

I would like to extend my sincere thanks to those who planned, helped with, and attended these events. Have a great summer and I wish you all the best for the rest of the year.

Annual Picnic

Location: Devou Park, Covington, Kentucky
6 June 2018, 5:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.
Attendees: Alex Herzlein, Emily Keen, Cara Yurkowski, Regina Hartman, Edith Starbuck, Amy Koshoffer, Barbara Slavinski, Steve Pfeiffer, Sandra Mason, Lisa McCormick, Jackie Evans, Amanda Fay, Val Purvis, Guests: Alana Ellick, Zuzu Ellick, Monica Slavinski, Various Fur Babies

CAHSLA members and guests gathered for the annual end-of-the-year picnic at the Volpeheln Pavilion at Devou Park. Though the temperature had gotten higher and muggier, the shelter was shaded and a breeze made for a lovely setting. We enjoyed many delicious side dishes and desserts provided by members along with the chicken and pork bar-q-que and drinks provided by CAHSLA.

The evening is about catching up with old friends and making new friends, with just a bit of organizational business thrown in. President Alex Herzlein announced the election results and implemented the plan to serve the organization for 2018-2019. Alex thanked the officers and program committee for an outstanding association year.

Never having been on the National Institute of Health campus or to the National Library of Medicine, it was a great opportunity for me to see the home of PubMed and see the place where many grant funding decisions are made. And we had the chance to meet Patricia Flately Breman, Director of the National Library of Medicine, who opened the summation summit with a talk that highlighted the future directions of NLM particularly related to data science.

Data Management Summit Recap

In April, I had the opportunity to travel to the D.C. area and visit two paramount libraries. My main reason for going to the area was to attend the Biomedical and Health Librarian Research Data Management Training Course Capstone Summit hosted at the National Library of Medicine in Bethesda, Maryland.

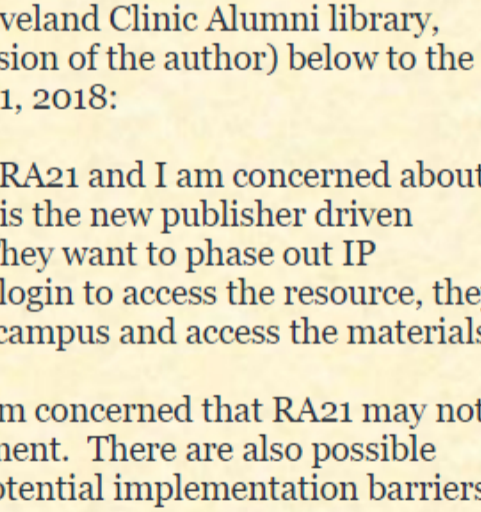

The other library I had a chance to visit was the Library of Congress. Before the summit, I spent one day and traveled by the very convenient metro system into our nation's capital. Given I had only one day, I attempted to explore as many attractions as possible. I visited the botanical gardens and walked around the capital building and the length of the Mall to the Vietnam Memorial.

hours of my day was in the Thomas Jefferson Building of the Library of Congress. The Thomas Jefferson Building is the main building (one of three) and is an architectural wonder. Opened in 1897, the library now holds nearly 25 million cataloged books and nearly 15 million non-cataloged items (source LOC webpage: https://www.loc.gov/about/general-information/visit-at-a-glance).

RA21 - Impact on Hospital Librarians
Michelle Kraft, AHP, director of the Cleveland Clinic Alumni library, posted the comments (with the permission of the author) below to the HLS Hospital Librarians Listserv on May 1, 2018:

Friday, I attended an online webinar on RA21 and I am concerned about the impact to hospital librarians. RA21 is the new publisher driven method for online resource validation. They want to phase out IP validation. That means everyone has to login to access the resource, they can't just click on the resource while on campus and access the materials.

While IP validation has its problems, I am concerned that RA21 may not be implementable in a hospital environment. There are also possible privacy issues but I am just looking at potential implementation barriers.

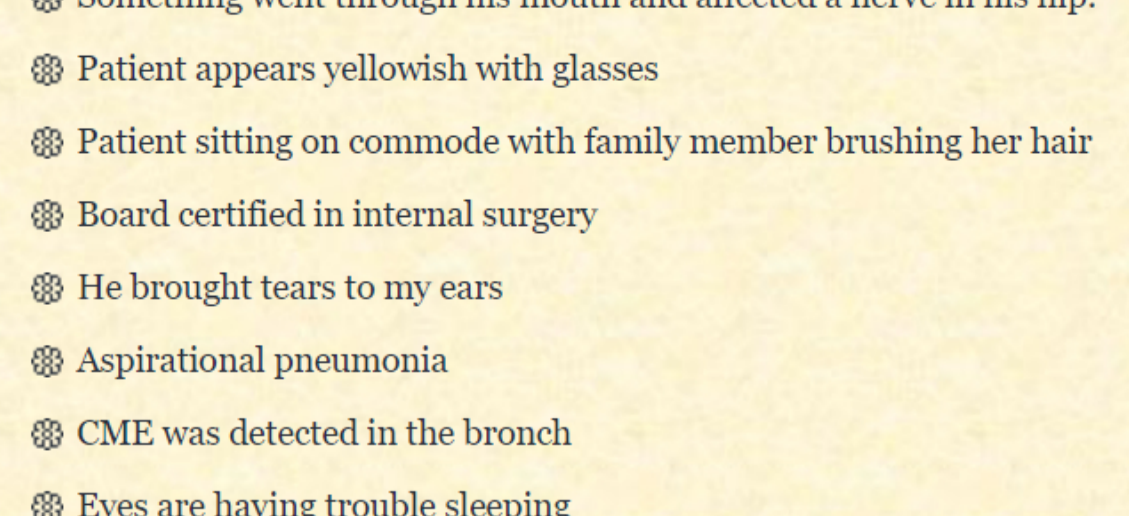

- Ⓞ No IP validation. That means patrons on campus will have to login.
Ⓞ There must be a patron database that contains the necessary information to validate the user when they login.
Ⓞ Most likely this will require Shibboleth or OpenAthens and most likely that will cost money.

I know hospital librarians are in the perils of relying on secondary sources reminds us all that our readers place a trust in us each time we put words to paper. We have a duty on behalf of all authors, to do our best to fulfill that trust when we produce those words. A single mistake - a bibliographic patient zero - may be quite small and entirely unintentional. However, it can infect the literature like a self-duplicating virus and become amplified with time...
